

Free Careers Resources

These resources have been selected to help Careers Leaders and others to create and maintain a high-quality careers programme in their school or college.

Most sites have been recommended by others and have been used successfully in careers programmes hence promoting them in this guide.

Please be aware of the following:

- Check sites thoroughly yourself before deciding if the resource is suitable for your needs – you may need to look beyond this list
- Links change regularly and some listed here may have changed since this document was produced (last checked 03-09-24)
- There are different target audiences for these resources, but some could easily fit into more than one category therefore approach each resource with an open mind and see how it could be used and with whom
- Some resources do make reference to extended services at a cost

- 2 For Careers Leaders
- 3 For the young person
- 6 Corporate careers programmes
- 7 STEM
- 8 For the teacher or adviser
- 9 Higher Education resources for the Careers Leader/teacher
- 11 Visiting speakers to inspire students

■ Information for parents and carers

Parents and carers are known to be the single biggest influence on most – though by no means all – young people’s lives. Parents and carers, if they have the right information, can help schools and colleges reinforce important messages about their children’s future decisions. Parents and carers need to keep up to date with changes in education and training, however, and this is where these websites can help.

■ Labour Market Information (LMI) – general sites

Labour Market Information is vital in a careers programme so that young people are familiar with the world of work around them. Through the careful and targeted use of LMI in an institution the careers programme can give both important information about industry sectors, jobs forecasts and the skills and qualities employers look for in their workforce. Simple and useful LMI can also be found in some of the young people’s sites above and you can read guidance on how to use LMI at icould, LMI for All and YEUK.

■ Labour Market Information (LMI) – key datasets

This is the 'hard core' statistical information for people who are looking for specific information on the labour market. Used in the right way these data can add credibility to any teaching about the labour market and emphasise key points about the world of work in careers discussions, class or homework or even within certain curriculum subjects.
